Fran,

In response to your email, Trident will not discharge any uncooked fish processing residues from our Cordova South facility during the months of November, December, January, February or March in Orca Inlet where sea otters, which are protected under the Marine Mammal Protection Act, are attracted to the discharge and waste deposit as a food source. Please cite this email as a modification to Trident's Cordova South NOI dated 06/22/2012.

Regards,

Mike

Mike,
There are February and March discharges anticipated on page 2 of the 6/22/2012 NOI(attached) for AKG520491 Cordova South. I don't see any statement in the submittal that indicates these discharges will be cooked. Below is the AKG520000 statement on Orca Inlet. You can amend the NOI and resubmit or send me an email that will be cited in the new authorization that clarifies that no uncooked fish processing waste residues will be discharged in February and March from this facility.

9. Orca Inlet. No discharge of uncooked fish processing waste residues may occur during the months of November, December, January, February and March in of Orca Inlet where sea otters, which are protected under the Marine Mammal Protection Act, are attracted to the discharge and waste deposit as a food source.

Thank you-
