

Jennifer Thompson

Alaska's spill prevention and response rules are working just fine, and ADEC should not waste our public dollars on a process that will most surely rollback safeguards for Alaska's prized fisheries and our coastal communities.