Nutriom LLC Clarifies Dried Egg Products Recall

(JUNEAU, AK) – Nutriom LLC has clarified a recall and public health alert to include an additional 82,884 pounds of processed egg products potentially contaminated with Salmonella.

On February 19, 2014, Nutriom LLC issued a recall for 226,710 lbs of dried egg products potentially contaminated with Salmonella. Due to concerns of further contamination of dried egg products not recalled, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Food Safety and Inspection Service issued a public health alert March 28, 2014 to include additional processed egg products. The total amount of recalled products is now 309,594 pounds.

Consumption of food contaminated with Salmonella can cause salmonellosis, one of the most common bacterial foodborne illnesses. The most common symptoms of salmonellosis are diarrhea, abdominal cramps and fever within 12 to 72 hours after eating the contaminated product. The illness usually lasts four to seven days. Most people recover without treatment. In some persons, however, the diarrhea may be so severe that the patient needs to be hospitalized. Older adults, infants and persons with weakened immune systems are more likely to develop a severe illness. Individuals concerned about an illness should contact their health care provider.

The dried egg products in question were produced from February 28, 2013 through February 8, 2014, and may be identified by “INSPECTED EGG PRODUCTS PLANT 21493G,” located inside the USDA mark of inspection. The lists below include all the products recalled.
