Wood smoke has been linked to cancer, reproductive issues such as infant mortality and low birth weight, lung disease, heart attack, stroke and premature death.