

BRUCE BEAUVERD

There has never been a major oil spill that has been completely and successfully cleaned up. Transporting oil all across our state, from Prudhoe Bay to Valdez, and then down through the Gulf of Alaska and Prince William Sound, poses enormous risks. As long as this continues, we say: Any weakening of regulations regarding prevention and response is completely unacceptable.