Firefighting Substances Disposal Reimbursement Program Eligibility Confirmation Form

The purpose of the Firefighting Substances Disposal Reimbursement (FSDR) program is to aid communities in disposing of Aqueous Film Forming Foams (AFFF) which contains hazardous Per- and Poly-fluoroalkyl Substances (PFAS). The program reimburses communities for the costs associated with the disposal of these foams. Eligible expenses could include:

- Purchase of associated packaging materials necessary for transporting the AFFF and contaminated equipment to the disposal facility, such as overpack drums or other storage containers, pallets, etc.,
- Labor costs associated with packaging material and readying it for transport to a disposal facility;
- Third-party vendor costs to assist in the coordination of transportation and disposal;
- Transportation costs to a disposal facility; and
- Disposal costs at a disposal facility.

In order to be eligible for the FSDR program, the applicant must either:

- a) Be domiciled in an Alaskan community which is both off the road system and has a population of less than 2,000 people according to <https://dcra-cdo-dcced.opendata.arcgis.com/>; or
- b) Have received PFAS-containing AFFF from a partially state-funded fire safety project listed at <https://dec.alaska.gov/media/zdhfjn4z/list-of-communities-that-received-project-code-red-equipment.xlsx>

To submit this form, you will need a Vendor Customer Number from the Alaska Department of Administration. To receive a Vendor Customer Number, please visit <https://doa.alaska.gov/dof/vendor.html>.

In order to receive reimbursement, applicants should first complete this Eligibility Determination Request and submit it to:
