

Laura Lucas

I am an Alaskan resident who lived through the Exxon-Valdez oil spill. The oil spill and response plans (already scrutinized and revised numerous times) that were developed to prevent another tragedy HAVE BEEN WORKING. For this reason I feel the proposal to revise the regulations is unnecessary and is in fact a thinly veiled attempt to rollback these safeguards for the interests of the oil companies.